It Is Said.

That the path of the country editor is strewn with roses and rose-bushes have thorns.

That the editor who tries to please everybody is doomed to disappointment and must exercise great caution if he hopes to escape the fool killer.

That some men and women feel injured if we fail to mention their goods deeds, however trifling, and that we will be injured if we mention their evil deeds.

That an editor who has opinions and dares to publish them has enemies and the one who has no opinions has no friends.

That people who do not pay for your paper find more fault with it than those who pay in advance.

That an editor, being a human animal, is just as liable to make mistakes as the preacher, doctor and lawyer, and that he does make them.

That the doctor buries his mistakes in the cemetery, while the fool editor prints his with non-fading ink and sends them, post-paid, to hundreds of critics.—
Western Publisher.

Some of the millions which have been pulled out of Texas, during past years by the New York Cotton bears, have been brought back recently, thanks to Mr. Brown and his assistants.

Constable on Trial

Charged with Killing a Young Man at Waelder.

Gonzales, Texas, August 7.—The case of the State vs. Jeff Tomlinson, charged with the murder of Julius Fisher at Waelder, this year, was called for trial this morning. Sam Green of Columbus and Walter and Van Strive of Gonzales, are assisting; District Attorney Atkinson in the prosecution. The defendant is represented by Burgess, Hopkins and Rainbolt. Tomlinson, constable of the Waelder precinct and in trying to arrest Fisher and W. W. Cook, Fisher was killed. There are about sixty witnesses present from Waelder and vicinity. Both sides announced ready for trial and the jury is being secured out of a special venire of seventy-five men.

The jury in the case of the State vs. W. W. Cook, charged with the murder of W. A. Bittick at Waelder two years ago, was discharged today having been out since Wednesday evening. The jury failed to agree, standing ten for acquittal and two for conviction.

Middling cotton is now quoted at 12c. at Galveston, but is likely to take a drop as soon as the new crop begins to move. If the crop were not so late our farmers would be reaping a big benefit from the present price. Do not hold your cotton at the present price, rush it to market as quickly as possible.

This is a case of where the early bird gets the worm.
